GRADE 5 — WEEK 6

◆ THIS WEEK AT NVS (SUBJECT HIGHLIGHTS)

- English: students brought “The Ant and the Grasshopper” to life through a lively and creative role play. Their confident performance highlighted the values of hard work, preparation, and responsibility while developing communication and teamwork skills. The activity made learning meaningful, engaging, and memorable.
- Mathematics: Students explored place value, rounding, and triangles through engaging activities and hands-on learning experiences. They developed an understanding of the value of digits based on their position, learned how to round numbers to the nearest place value, and identified different types of triangles by their sides and angles, strengthening their mathematical thinking and problem-solving skills.
- Science: Grade 5 students actively participated in their Midterm Revision through Visiting Stations, where they reviewed key Science concepts through collaborative activities. As they moved from one station to another, students shared ideas, answered questions, and strengthened their understanding in an engaging and interactive way.
- Arabic: The students learned about the subjunctive imperfect verb, practiced applying it through activities and exercises, and connected the lesson to real-life situations.

♦ ACTIVITIES & PERSONAL DEVELOPMENT

➤ INJAZ Bahrain Junior ICAMP Program

Our Grade 5 students took part in the INJAZ Bahrain Junior ICAMP program, where they engaged in hands-on activities, teamwork, discussions, and creative challenges. Through problem-solving and collaboration, students developed creativity, communication, teamwork, and entrepreneurial skills while building confidence and exploring innovative ideas. The program encouraged students to think critically, express their ideas effectively, and work together to create meaningful solutions.

Highlights of the Week

This week, Grade 5 students participated in a range of engaging and meaningful learning experiences across different subjects. In English, students brought the classic fable “The Ant and the Grasshopper” to life through an expressive role-play activity. Through confident performances, they demonstrated the values of hard work, preparation, and responsibility while developing their communication, collaboration, and presentation skills.

In Mathematics, students worked collaboratively in groups, actively participating in discussions and problem-solving activities. To encourage teamwork and engagement, groups were rewarded with gifts for their outstanding participation, cooperation, and positive contributions during lessons.

Celebrating student achievement, Adam Mohammed from Grade 5A was recognized for his exemplary conduct, active participation, and academic excellence. After successfully collecting 10 Golden Tickets, he received a well-deserved reward, inspiring his peers to continue demonstrating positive learning behaviors.

These experiences fostered teamwork, confidence, creativity, and responsibility, making learning both enjoyable and memorable for all students.
